

Wayne Dunn Short Bio

Wayne Dunn is President & Founder of the CSR Training Institute and Professor of Practice in Corporate Social Responsibility at McGill University. He is a Stanford University Sloan Fellow with a M.Sc. in Management from the Stanford University Graduate School of Business. He is on the Advisory Board of the EU Africa Chamber of Commerce and Chaired the 2014 EU Africa CSR Awards Gala jury, and recently served on the Jury for the 2015 CSR Awards for Qatar and for Saudi Arabia.

He is a CSR and social license pioneer and a veteran of 25+ years and 70+ projects in the space where business meets society. His experience encompasses award winning global CSR and sustainability work including industry projects, CSR strategy and CSR Policy.

Wayne's work spans the globe and covers many industries and sectors including extensive work throughout Africa and with Indigenous Peoples in Canada and globally. He is a recognized global CSR thought-leader and a highly acclaimed and frequent lecturer and speaker on CSR, economics, development and strategy at events worldwide.

His work is known for practical integration of theory and practice to produce business and learning results. It has won major international awards and been used extensively as 'best-practice' by industry and academia, including as a case study by Stanford Business School.

His CSR and sustainability writings have a global following and his CSR and sustainability training programs are heavily subscribed by executives and managers from around the world. (See comments here)

He's also worked oil rigs, prospecting, diamond drilling, logging, commercial fishing, heavy equipment operator, farming, truck driver, trapper and underwater logging, done a couple of start-ups and too many other things to mention.

Wayne is equally comfortable at a bush-camp or addressing major international events; in the jungle or in the boardroom.